These are the memories that stay with us forever.
It may be spending time with good friends exploring the stillness of an intriguing cove.
Or holding a family celebration at dockside.
One moment, you can be filled with emotion when confronted by six-foot seas.
The next, tranquilized by the setting sun.
Getting away and having time to yourself, or giving quality time to your loved ones.
Boating makes it possible.
A Carver makes it better.
PERFECTION. FROM CONCEPT TO CONSTRUCTION.

For over thirty years we've been building our boats by the same set of rules and with many of the same people. Not many boat builders can say that in this time of continual change.

At Carver, we're proud of the fact that in some cases we've had three generations of a single family building Carvers.

What does this mean to you? For one, it's your insurance policy as a Carver owner that your boat was built with consistent standards of quality and experience. And with a certain pride that keeps flourishing.

At the same time, it has made Carver stronger. The skills of our company have been nourished by the continuity of our workforce.

One-piece fiberglass stringer system and all fiberglass-hue in Carver marine yacht add strength and reliability. 1988 is a record year for Carver. It's the first time in our history that we've introduced five new models.

With contempt for the ordinary, Carver engineers have created a totally new line of streamlined cruisers to capture the fancy of sport boat enthusiasts. The new line of Montego takes Carver into the 21' to 25' range, with crisp new styling, comfortable cruising accommodations and contemporary designer interiors.

Also new in '88 are the exciting 30 and 38 Santagos, beautifully contemporary styled boats offering low-profile command bridge performance. Their possibilities are endless. As is the unmitting tradition of Carver craftsmanship. A tradition of excellence.

which is the driving force behind our products.

You can see it at work in the incomparable mirror-like finish of a Carver hull. The result of precise workmanship, look into the hull's.

Various and heavy duty propeller shafts provide extra strength in Carver marine yacht.

Moreover, while some boatbuilders are always looking for shortcuts, Carver engineers are continually looking for ways to improve their designs. Not cheaper them.

Take for example, the extra expense that goes into giving our cleats extra strength. Instead of screw mounting into fiberglass, the Carver cleat is backed up with a metal plate that's embedded in fiberglass.

What's more, Carver's the only builder that double welds its bow and safety rail standchion bases for lasting strength.

It's all built in value that comes standard in a Carver.
YOU CAN TELL A CARVER BY THE TOUCH.

Don’t take our word on it. Try it yourself. Step inside a Carver and run your hand across its woodworking. The sensation is smooth. Around boating circles, the extra-smooth finish of Carver teak has become a common expectation. It’s achieved through repeated sandings and several handrubbed coats of finish.

The generous use of teak for trim, bulkheads and cabinetry unmistakably adds a rich elegance to the Carver interior, and restate value to your investment.

The workmanship inherent in Carver’s cabinetry has been compared to that of fine furniture. And with good reason. You wouldn’t expect less from the skill and experience of Carver’s woodsmiths, who share the pride in Carver’s early woodworking heritage.

The cabinetry in our boats is handcrafted from selected teak, and is built in Carver’s own wood shop under carefully supervised conditions. Carver engineers are continually looking for ways to heighten the enjoyment of your boating experience. When it comes to interiors, special attention is given to creating environments that are both practical and comfortable, and at the same time, elegant and stylish.

In addition, since Carvers are built for peoples’ enjoyment, their interiors are designed around human needs. Convenient entry and cabinet headroom, comfortable sleeping accommodations that offer the desired privacy; storage compartments and hanging lockers that are designed in, not added on, and head compartments with home-like conveniences such as lighted vanities and showers; these are all carefully designed to meet the needs of you and your guests.

Finally, supporting your freedom of expression, Carver gives you a choice of interior colors and fabrics, as well as optional cabin layouts with specific models. The fabrics are skillfully sewn in Carver’s upholstery shop, thus ensuring their precise fit and your satisfaction.

Before you decide on which new boat to buy, consider how well the builder stands behind its products. Remember this, Carver has always supported its owners both before and after the sale. One of the largest and most experienced customer service staffs in the business ensures the success of that support.

You’ll be surprised how much Carver you can buy for your money. From our smaller Montego to our luxurious Californian Series motor yachts, there’s a Carver that’s right for you. Just imagine what it would be like to take your next cruise aboard a new Carver.

Think of the possibilities.
