The 445's new look begins with its extra-wide, integral boarding platform. With a full eight inches more swim platform length than its predecessor, the 440 Aft Cabin, there's much more room for water sports on this stylish new transom.

For maximum convenience and safety, this expanded boarding platform now features new, integral staircase-style steps surfaced with nonskid and guarded by a stainless steel hand rail. Easy-to-access shore water and shore power connections, mounted conveniently on the transom, help make powering-up a breeze. Add the specially designed optional transom storage locker for stowing mooring lines or swim gear, and the 445's new transom is as functional as it is stylish.

Once inside Carver's new 445, you'll admire the expanded master stateroom. With nine inches of added walkaround space beside the suite's oversized queen island berth, you'll find there's plenty of room to roam inside this expanded master suite. And, for maximum ventilation, the 445's master suite now features a sliding glass window with screen allowing a free flow of air into the master cabin.
